

Introducing our Charities ...

Apart from indulging in the fun of Broadway Musicals from across the decades, your attendance at today's performance will directly assist three local charities to carry out their magnificent work around South Australia. Here are a few brief details, but we also encourage you to have a chat to the charity representatives here today for more information.

For over 20 years, Arthritis SA's 'Moving Towards Wellness' course has provided participants with a refreshed outlook on life. Adults of all ages living with arthritis and other chronic conditions participate with peer educators to empower themselves to take control of their lives. Results can be so pronounced that some participants can again engage in the workforce. Different exercise programs, like 'Tai Chi for Arthritis', are important to manage arthritis and take positive steps towards wellness.

'Music to our Ears' is an early intervention program using music to promote the development of speech and auditory neural pathways in profoundly deaf children, some with additional developmental disorders. Exposure to music improves deaf children's speech, especially their vocal quality and clarity. Music therapy in small groups offers an opportunity for children to learn through singing and music in a fun, dynamic and socially interactive way.

'Minda' is one of South Australia's largest disability organisations. For over 110 years we have provided the highest quality of professional care and support to individuals. A vibrant community, Minda empowers people with intellectual disability to exercise their rights and reach their aspirations while maximising independence, ensuring informed choice and improving quality of life for all. We achieve this by supporting people through services in accommodation, aged care, lifestyle/day options, employment and respite. Minda builds real lives in real places.

Welcome to the University of Adelaide's Elder Hall

and our performance of Brilliant Broadway

For more than 100 years popular musical theatre has tugged at the heart-strings and lifted the spirits of millions of people, from the very young to the very old.

From its roots in operetta and its journey through vaudeville via Tin Pan Alley, to the glittering walk along Broadway, the musical has gifted us with a song for every emotion.

We often hear of star performers who have spent their life in musical theatre, but musical theatre, itself, is about life.

Our Brilliant Broadway concert will give you a glimpse of those characters and emotions that populate this incredible world. We love this world and we hope you will too.
